

University Museums and Special Collections
Lunchtime Perspectives Talk

Photography of the 1930s

Jason Hill, Assistant Professor, Art History

Thursday, March 9, 2017 | 12:00 p.m.

Old College West Gallery

Perspectives is a series of informal afternoon discussions led by curators and invited faculty about the objects, exhibitions, and ideas on display in University Museums galleries. These varied, short and informal talks offer an introduction to each exhibition as well time for discussion.

Photographs:

Berenice Abbott, Gasoline Station, Tremont Avenue and Dock Street, Bronx, 1936

Isabel Bishop, Reading the Newspaper, 1931