Matthew Palczynski, Temple University

Mark Rothko, Red and Blue over Red, 1959
(MOCA Los Angeles)

Discussion of the play “RED” by John Logan, now being performed by the REP Theater at UD, and the artist Mark Rothko, in whose studio the play is set.

Dr. Matthew Palczynski is an independent art history consultant, lecturer, curator, and educator, for academic, corporate, and non-profit institutions. His Ph.D. (Temple, 2011) dissertation interrogated Mark Rothko's controversial Seagram project in relation to his life-long preoccupation with architecture and space.
